THE DOCTOR: Lady Cranleigh.

LADY CRANLEIGH: This is Dittar
Latoni, a friend from Brazil.

THE DOCTOR: How do you do?

LATONI: Sir.

THE DOCTOR: I'm afraid I'm lost.

LADY CRANLEIGH: You are indeed.

THE DOCTOR: I should explain.

LADY CRANLEIGH: There isn't need,
Doctor.

THE DOCTOR: Oh, but there is.
You see, in my meandering, I've discovered something rather unpleasant.

LADY CRANLEIGH: Go on.

THE DOCTOR: There's a body through there.

LADY CRANLEIGH: What?

THE DOCTOR: A dead man. In a cupboard.

LADY CRANLEIGH: Really!

THE DOCTOR: It's true, I'm afraid. May I show you?

LADY CRANLEIGH: Please do.

(THE DOCTOR MOVES ACROSS TO THE WALL THROUGH

LADY CRANLEIGH: Ten bedrooms

THE DOCTOR: A larger than average priest-hole.

LADY CRANLEIGH: The Cranleighs of the time were devout and very hospitable.
The priesthood came here from all over the country.

(THEY HAVE DRAWN LEVEL WITH THE CUPBOARD)

THE DOCTOR: In there. Are you sure you want to look?

LADY CRANLEIGH: Thank you, Doctor, but I'm made of quite stern stuff.

THE DOCTOR: Yes, of course.

(HE OPENS THE CUPBOARD DOOR.

EYES.

LADY CRANLEIGH GESTURES TO THE CUPBOARD)

Please.

(THE DOCTOR CLOSES THE

I'm deeply sorry, Doctor, that you have had this dreadful experience. I would be grateful if you will help me keep this from my other guests. I would not want to upset them.

THE DOCTOR: Well ...

LADY CRANLEIGH: It's pointless involving them, until the Police decide otherwise.

THE DOCTOR: Of course.

LADY CRANLEIGH: Thank you.

THE DOCTOR: If you could tell me how to get back to my room ... it's about time
I got dressed.

LADY CRANLEIGH: I'll show

They pass a dancing COUPLE dressed as the Walrus and the Carpenter.

CRANLEIGH: "I cannot do with more than two to give a hand to each".

ANN: (SUDDENLY REALISING)
How did I get here? I hurt my head ... There was someone in fancy dress.

LADY CRANLEIGH: Put the whole incident from your mind.

ANN: I can't! It was too awful.

LADY CRANLEIGH: A little brandy will calm you down.

TELECINE 4:

On the terrace the dancing continues.

There are a few guests at the buffet tables; among them ADRIC.

He has a mountain of food on his plate to which he is adding more with some difficulty.

BREWSTER offers a dish.

BREWSTER: A little more of this, sir.

ADRIC: No, thanks. This'll do to be going on with.

A dance comes to an end.

BREWSTER: Where's James with that bucket? Hurry him up will you, Henry.

The other footman goes.

CRANLEIGH: A little cold collation?

NYSSA: What's that?

CRANLEIGH: Something to eat.

NYSSA: Oh, yes please.. ..

CRANLEIGH takes NYSSA to the buffet tables to which other guests are drifting including TEGAN and SIR ROBERT.

In the background HENRY, the footman, returns to BREWSTER and speaks to him.

NYSSA stops by ADRIC as CRANLEIGH moves on to get her some food.

NYSSA: Is that seconds?

ADRIC: So?

NYSSA: You pig!

ADRIC: You can only be Nyssa.

NYSSA: Just look at that!

ADRIC: I didn't have any breakfast.

TEGAN comes to them with SIR ROBERT who goes on to join CRANLEIGH.

BREWSTER goes to CRANLEIGH to speak to him.

CRANLEIGH and SIR ROBERT exchange a look and go.

- 2/19 -

TEGAN: Have you seen the Doctor?

NYSSA: No.

TEGAN: Sure you've got enough there?

ADRIC: Don't you start!

END TELECINE 4.

(CRANLEIGH AND SIR
ROBERT BY THE DEAD
JAMES.

CRANLEIGH RISES FROM A STOOPING POSITION)

CRANLEIGH: His neck's broken.

SIR ROBERT: By the look of him it couldn't have happened in a fall.

CRANLEIGH: What's that?

(HE POINTS TO THE FLOOR BY SIR ROBERT'S FEET.

SIR ROBERT PICKS UP
ANN'S HEAD-DRESS.

CRANLEIGH TAKES IT)

Ann was wearing this.

SIR ROBERT: Or the other one.

CRANLEIGH: No. That was the other one on the terrace.
Something's happened to Ann.

SIR ROBERT: I'll telephone the station.

(SIR ROBERT GOES AS THE DOCTOR, COMPLETE IN FANCY DRESS, COMES DOWN THE STAIRS)

THE DOCTOR: Had an accident?

CRANLEIGH: I'm afraid it's rather more serious than that, Doctor.

ANN: (O.O.V.) That's him!

(ANN AND LADY CRANLEIGH HAVE COME INTO THE HALL)

That's who attacked me!

(THE DOCTOR REMOVES HIS HEADGEAR)

THE DOCTOR: It's me.

ANN: Yes, you! And he did that. I saw him.

CRANLEIGH: Doctor?

THE DOCTOR: I'm sorry. Miss Talbot is mistaken. I've just this minute come down.

ANN: I am not mistaken! He danced with me and then pulled me in here. I shouted for help and James came and he killed him.

THE DOCTOR: I say! Now, look here!

(SIR ROBERT COMES BACK)

- 2/22 -

ANN: Sir Robert, arrest that man! He killed James. I saw him.

THE DOCTOR: Lady Cranleigh, please...

LADY CRANLEIGH: Charles, shouldn't you...?

(SHE GESTURES TOWARDS THE BODY)

SIR ROBERT: No, Madge, not until the Sergeant gets here.

LADY CRANLEIGH: But our guests...

SIR ROBERT: I'd suggest, Charles, you call it a day. Tell them there's been an accident and ask them to leave.

CRANLEIGH: What about him?
(THE DOCTOR)

SIR ROBERT: I'll deal with this.

CRANLEIGH: Rightho!

(HE GOES)

SIR ROBERT: Well, sir? Is this the reason you wished to remain incognito?

THE DOCTOR: Of course not.

SIR ROBERT: What is your name?

THE DOCTOR: That's a very difficult question.

- 22 -

SIR ROBERT: Have you any means of identification?

THE DOCTOR: No, I've never needed any.

SIR ROBERT: Fortunate man.
Just exactly who are you and what are you doing here?

THE DOCTOR: I'm afraid if I told you... you wouldn't believe me.

SIR ROBERT: I am the Chief Constable of this county.
And you, sir, are under suspicion of murder.

THE DOCTOR: I'm a Time Lord.

SIR ROBERT: A what?

THE DOCTOR: I told you.

SIR ROBERT: Try again!

THE DOCTOR: I travel in space and time... I have a Time Machine... You've read H.G. Wells?

SIR ROBERT: I know of him.
He writes fiction.

THE DOCTOR: Lady Cranleigh, please help me.

SIR ROBERT: How can Lady Cranleigh help you?

THE DOCTOR: There's something terribly wrong here. Lady Cranleigh knows. I showed her another dead body.

SIR ROBERT: What? Madge?

LADY CRANLEIGH: Like Mr Wells, the Doctor seems to have a vivid immagination.

(THIS ROCKS THE DOCTOR FOR A MOMENT)

THE DOCTOR: I showed you a body in a cupboard through there.
You and the Indian.

SIR ROBERT: Indian?

THE DOCTOR: An Indian with a lip.

(HE GESTURES AND THEN REALISES HOW RIDICULOUS HE LOOKS)

I give up.

SIR ROBERT: Perhaps you'd show me.

THE DOCTOR: Willingly. This way.

(LADY CRANLEIGH STARTS TO LEAVE WITH THEM)

ANN: Don't leave me!

LADY CRANLEIGH: (AN ARM ABOUT ANN)
Go and find Charles, my dear.

(LADY CRANLEIGH FOLLOWS THE OTHERS.)

- 2/25 -

ANN LOOKS DOWN AT JAMES AND GOES QUICKLY.

ON JAMES)

An ODD GUEST can be seen leaving;
the sound of motor cars driving off;
car doors slamming.

ANN comes from the house to join CRANLEIGH.

ADRIC: I don't believe it!
The Doctor would never do a thing like that.

TEGAN: We can all speak for him.

BREWSTER comes from the house.

NYSSA: Yes.

CRANLEIGH: Miss Talbot was a witness.

ADRIC: Her word against his.

CRANLEIGH: That's enough!
You'd better get into the house.
The police should be here at any minute.

SIR ROBERT: You refuse to name yourself or give any good account of yourself ... except for some irresponsible fiction ... and you were seen to kill a man. Heaven knows what your motive was but that, no doubt, will emerge during the course of enquiries.

THE DOCTOR: (AT LADY CRANLEIGH)
I sincerely hope so.

(CRANLEIGH AND ANN COME IN WITH A UNIFORMED POLICE SERGEANT AND POLICE CONSTABLE)

CRANLEIGH: (TO SIR ROBERT)
I've just received a telephone call from Smutty Frobisher, apologising for the fact the replacement he had arranged missed his train.

LADY CRANLEIGH: Then this man is an imposter as well.

CRANLEIGH: Indeed.

SIR ROBERT: I'm arresting this man, Sergeant, on suspicion of murder.

SERGEANT: Yes, sir.

SIR ROBERT: (TO THE DOCTOR)
And I must warn you that anything you say will be taken down and may be used in evidence

THE DOCTOR: Very kind of you.

SIR ROBERT: I shall prefer the charge formally at the station, Markham.

MARKHAM: Yes, Sir Robert.

SIR ROBERT: His accomplices must come too.

THE DOCTOR: Accomplices?

SIR ROBERT: Perhaps I should say accessories.

NYSSA: What are accessories?

SIR ROBERT: Accessories to murder.
They suffer the same penalty.

MARKHAM: Come along there!

CRANLEIGH: Tanner will take you, Bob.

SIR ROBERT: Thank you.

THE DOCTOR: Thank you, Lady Cranleigh, for a delightfully unexpected afternoon.

(ON THE UNRESPONSIVE FACE

QUARTET, bowls along followed by the Rolls.

Inside the police car. MARKHAM sits in the front passenger seat.

NYSSA: Why don't you show them
the Tardis, Doctor.

ADRIC: What would that prove?

TEGAN: That he isn't a liar.

THE DOCTOR: Sergeant, do we pass the station?

MARKHAM: We're going to the station.

TEGAN: The railway station.

MARKHAM: Yes.

THE DOCTOR: Would you stop there for a moment?

MARKHAM: No.

TEGAN: Please.

THE DOCTOR: There's vital evidence that will prove what I've said is true.

MARKHAM: What evidence?

THE DOCTOR: Stop and I'll show you.

MARKHAM thinks for a moment then nods to the CONSTABLE. The police car pulls into the station forecourt followed by the Rolls.

The cars disgorge their PASSENGERS.

SIR ROBERT: What's the idea?

THE DOCTOR: There's something I'd like to show you.

He goes into the station, followed by the OTHERS, and onto the platform.

The Tardis is nowhere to be seen.

SIR ROBERT: Well?

THE DOCTOR: It's not here.

SIR ROBERT: What?

THE DOCTOR: What I wanted to show you.

SIR ROBERT: Come along,
Markham, he's wasting time.

Markham glares daggers at THE DOCTOR.

END TELECINE 6.

TELECINE 7:

let's get on with it.

MARKHAM: Yes, Sir Robert.
Cummings, the charge book.

CUMMINGS: Did you see it, Sarg?

MARKHAM: See what?

CUMMINGS: The police box in the yard. It was on the north bound platform of the railway station, and it's as heavy as lead. It took a mobile crane and the army to shift it. And we can't get into it. No key will unlock it.

THE DOCTOR: This one will.

24. INT. DETENTION ROOM. DAY.

CRANLEIGH: Digby! When?

LADY CRANLEIGH: It must have been last night.

CRANLEIGH: And you said nothing?

LADY CRANLEIGH: No. It will do no good.

CRANLEIGH: Do no good! We can't let that Doctor fellow suffer for something he didn't do.

LADY CRANLEIGH: He will come to no harm. He is innocent.

CRANLEIGH: Mother, we've got to tell the police.

LADY CRANLEIGH: No!

(ANN COMES IN)

ANN: Charles, please don't leave me alone.

(CRANLEIGH COMES TO HER AND PUTS AN ARM ABOUT HER)

CRANLEIGH: Ann, there's something you've got to know.

LADY CRANLEIGH: No, Charles!

HE THEN SEARCHES
LATONI'S BODY, MAKING STRANGE GUTTERAL SOUND.

HE GIVES UP THE SEARCH AND CRUSHES
A NEWSPAPER INTO A BALL PLACING IT AGAINST THE DOOR.

HE GATHERS TOGETHER A NUMBER OF BOOKS AND TAKES A BOX OF MATCHES FROM THE MANTELSHELF.

THE BOOKS JOIN THE NEWSPAPER.

THE UNKNOWN STRIKES

THE PAPER FLARES)

29. INT. TARDIS. DAY.

(AS BEFORE)

SIR ROBERT: I must admit that all this will be rather difficult to explain in my report.

THE DOCTOR: I told you I was a time traveller.

SIR ROBERT: But that doesn't prevent you from being a murderer as well.

(CUMMINGS FROM OUTSIDE THE TARDIS)

CUMMINGS: Sir Robert!

(THE DOCTOR OPENS THE DOOR)

THE DOCTOR: Come in!

(CUMMINGS COMES

SIR ROBERT: What is it?

(CUMMINGS WITH OPEN EYES STILL WANDERING)

CUMMINGS: A call from Lord Cranleigh, sir, up at the Hall. He's found another body, sir. A man called Digby. His neck is broken just like the servant James.

SIR ROBERT: (TO THE DOCTOR)
Another of yours?

CUMMINGS: Can't be, sir. According to Lord Carnleigh, Digby's body is stiff with rigor mortis.

THE DOCTOR: Given the conditions of where the body was hidden, I would suggest he's been dead about eight hours. I was no-where near the hall twelve hours ago.

SIR ROBERT: You've seen the body?

THE DOCTOR: I told you I had.

CUMMINGS: There can't be two murders, can there?

SIR ROBERT: I very much doubt it. Come on, Markham.

THE DOCTOR: I can get you to the hall much more quickly.

SIR ROBERT: You can? (A LITTLE SUSPICIOUS) Alright, you do that.

(THE DOCTOR GOES ABOUT THE FLIGHT PROCESS)

30. INT. DRAWING ROOM. DAY.

(ANN IS LOOKING WITH HORROR AT CRANLEIGH AND HIS MOTHER)

ANN: How could you! Oh, how could you!

(SHE RUNS, WEEPING, FROM THE ROOM)

TELECINE 9:

Outside the Hall
the Tardis materialises.

As The DOCTOR leads the Company from it ANN runs, weeping, from the front entrance.

ANN runs to SIR ROBERT who takes her in his arms.

END TELECINE 9.

BURNING DOOR)

TELECINE 10:

The DOCTOR quartet, ANN, SIR ROBERT and MARKHAM move to the house.

END TELECINE 10.

32. INT. DRAWING ROOM. DAY.

(CRANLEIGH AND LADY CRANLEIGH.

THE UNKNOWN BURSTS IN AND THEY FACE
ONE ANOTHER)

CRANLEIGH: All right, old chap, all right.

(AS CRANLEIGH MOVES FORWARD THE UNKNOWN RUNS FROM THE ROOM)

THE UNKNOWN WHO TURNS, AT BAY.

HE RUNS TOWARDS THE DOCTOR GROUP
AS IF TO CHARGE THROUGH IT.

HE GRABS NYSSA WHO SCREAMS IN HORROR)

ADRIC: Nyssa!

(ADRIC AND THE DOCTOR JUMP TO THE RESCUE BUT ARE CONFOUNDED BY THE UNKNOWN'S HAND WHICH GOES THREATENGLY FOR NYSSA'S THROAT.

THE UNKNOWN HALF DRAGS, HALF CARRIES NYSSA TOWARDS THE STAIRS FROM WHICH NOW BELCHES SMOKE)

CRANLEIGH: He's started a fire.
Get the Brigade!

(THE UNKNOWN TAKES NYSSA UP THE STAIRS AND VANISHES INTO THE SMOKE.

THE DOCTOR AND ADRIC RUNS UP INTO THE SMOKE AS LADY CRANLEIGH SIGNALS TO MARKHAM TO USE THE TELEPHONE IN THE DRAWING ROOM.

CRANLEIGH COVERS HIS FACE WITH A HANDKERCHIEF AND RUNS INTO THE SMOKE TO COLLIDE WITH THE DOCTOR AND ADRIC COMING BACK).

THE DOCTOR: No! The stairs are burning.

SIR ROBERT: What was that thing?

(CRANLEIGH AND LADY
CRANLEIGH EXCHANGE
AN AWKWARD GLANCE)

THE DOCTOR: Ask them why he's so interested in Ann?

SIR ROBERT: Well?

(LADY CRANLEIGH
PAUSES FOR A MOMENT)

LADY CRANLEIGH: They were to be married. That thing, as you call him, is my elder son, George.

(CRANLEIGH TO THE DOCTOR)

CRANLEIGH: How did you know?

THE DOCTOR: The black orchid for one. Latoni for another.

SIR ROBERT: Explain.

THE DOCTOR: I'll leave Lady Cranleigh to do that. I have to save Nyssa.

LADY CRANLEIGH: George won't hurt her. He loves Ann.

THE DOCTOR: Indeed. And how will he react when he realises he's got the wrong woman.

(HE RUNS TO THE ENTRANCE FOLLOWED BY CRANLEIGH)

TELECINE 11:

THE DOCTOR and CRANLEIGH run from the house and begin to climb the wall.

The others come from the house, LADY CRANLEIGH and MARKHAM coming last.

ADRIC would follow THE DOCTOR but SIR ROBERT holds him back.

SIR ROBERT: No, lad. Two are enough.

He takes LADY CRANLEIGH apart from the others.

Smoke is pouring from part of the roof.

The UNKNOWN appears on the roof with NYSSA.

LADY CRANLEIGH: I have done something terribly wrong, Robert. Charles isn't to blame.

SIR ROBERT: What did the Doctor mean about the black orchid.

THE DOCTOR and CRANLEIGH are still climbing, watched by everyone.

LADY CRANLEIGH: You saw how George looked. The Kajabi Indians did that to him. To them the black orchid is sacred. And they cut out his tongue. His mind was affected. He was rescued by another tribe and their chief befriended him and brought him home.

SIR ROBERT: Latoni?

LADY CRANLEIGH: Yes. With Digby and Latoni's help, I was able to hide George in the house.

SIR ROBERT: Did George kill Digby?

LADY CRANLEIGH: Yes.

SIR ROBERT: And the servant?

LADY CRANLEIGH nods, tears running down her face.

THE DOCTOR and CRANLEIGH have reached the roof and are still some distance from GEORGE CRANLEIGH holding NYSSA threateningly near the edge.

THE DOCTOR leaves the roof and climbs back down the wall a little way.

THE DOCTOR then climbs along the wall with the intention of getting to the rear of GEORGE.

CRANLEIGH begins to move towards his brother.

GEORGE makes a move with NYSSA and CRANLEIGH stops.

CRANLEIGH: (cont) She'd done you no harm.

The group below watches THE DOCTOR reach the roof again at a place behind GEORGE.

GEORGE hears THE DOCTOR and turns.

CRANLEIGH makes a dash towards GEORGE, but on arrival is knocked to the ground.

GEORGE turns back to THE DOCTOR and opens his mouth in a ghastly smile.

There are no teeth.

(onto page 61)

THE DOCTOR: George, that isn't Ann. Ann is down there. Look!

GEORGE looks down at the GROUP below.

ANN, looking up, steps a little apart.

GEORGE looks at NYSSA and feels her hair.

NYSSA is very frightened.

THE DOCTOR: Keep still, Nyssa.

GEORGE turns again to look at THE DOCTOR, then looks again at CRANLEIGH, who is seated on the ground holding his jaw.

THE DOCTOR: It's true, George.
Please let me have her.

The GROUP on the ground watches tensely.

THE DOCTOR reaches GEORGE and is close enough to touch NYSSA, but he doesn't.

THE DOCTOR: Please.

GEORGE makes guttural sounds and holds NYSSA out a little more.

A beat, and then THE DOCTOR takes NYSSA from GEORGE.

There is a moment of shared relief.

CRANLEIGH gets to his feet.

CRANLEIGH: Thank you, George.

CRANLEIGH moves towards GEORGE who over-reacts, steps backwards and falls
from the roof.

LADY CRANLEIGH covers her eyes.

ANN and TEGAN hold each other.

THE DOCTOR and NYSSA join CRANLEIGH on the roof.

SIR ROBERT and MARKHAM move to the body.

LADY CRANLEIGH f _lows.

We hear a distant fire engine bell.

THE DOCTOR and CRANLEIGH wait with NYSSA on the roof.

SIR ROBERT stoops by GEORGE.

He looks up at LADY CRANLEIGH and shakes his head.

MIX

THE DOCTOR, TEGAN, NYSSA and ADRIC stand near the Tardis with CRANLEIGH, LADY CRANLEIGH and ANN.

They are all dressed normally.

LADY CRANLEIGH: I'm grateful you stayed for the funeral.

ANN has handed a box to TEGAN.

NYSSA: What's that?

TEGAN: Our fancy dresses.
(TO ANN) Do you really mean it?
We can keep them?

ANN: Of course.

LADY CRANLEIGH: (TO THE DOCTOR)
There's something I'd like you to have.

She hands THE DOCTOR a book which he opens.

Opposite the flyleaf there is a portrait photograph of a handsome man not unlike CRANLEIGH.

On the flyleaf is the title and the author's name;

"BLACK ORCHID"

by

GEORGE CRANLEIGH.

THE DOCTOR: Thank you. I shall treasure it.
